6 Directors' disclosure

6.1 Conflicts of interest

Directors are required to monitor and disclose any actual or potential conflicts of interest that may arise, including related party transactions. Directors must:

- disclose to the Chairman any actual or potential conflicts of interest that may exist as soon as the situation arises;
- take all necessary and reasonable steps to resolve any conflict of interest; and

- comply with the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) requirements about disclosing interests and restrictions on participation and voting.

The Board will determine whether or not declaring a conflict of interest should, in relation only to the matter that results in the conflict of interest, result in the Director not:

- receiving any papers; and / or
- taking place in or being present for any consideration or discussions.

A Director must not commit to a related party transaction before the Board or, where required, shareholders have approved it. Following such approval, the Director concerned must as soon as practicable after entering into the related party transaction disclose the material terms of the transaction to the Company Secretary.

In the event that the Chairman has a conflict of interest, the Chairman will follow the same procedures as set out above for Directors but will discuss any potential conflicts with and make all relevant disclosures to the Chairman of the Audit and Risk Committee, who will determine if such information should be brought to the Board for consideration.

8 Review and Board Assessment

This Charter is to be reviewed by the Board as required and at least annually.

9 Administrative matters and procedures

The proceedings of the Board will be conducted in accordance with the Company's Constitution and the guidelines set out in Attachment 2.

Attachment 1

Guidelines of the Board of Directors – Independence of Directors

Without limiting the Board's discretion, the Board has adopted the following guidelines to assist in considering the independence of Directors with regard to the ASX corporate governance principles and applicable laws. In general, Directors will be considered to be 'independent' if they:

- are not employed in an executive capacity by the Company or another group member, or, if they have been previously employed in an executive capacity by the Company or another group member, there has been a period of at least 3 years between ceasing such employment and serving on the Board;
- do not receive performance-based remuneration (including options or performance rights) from, or participates in an employee incentive scheme of the Company;
- have not within the last 3 years been in a material business relationship (eg as a supplier, professional adviser, consultant or customer) with the Company or other group member or an officer of, or otherwise associated with, someone with such a relationship;
- do not represent and has not, within the last 3 years, represented an officer, or employee of, or professional adviser to, a substantial holder;
- do not have close personal ties with any person who falls within any of the categories described above;
- have not been a director of the entity for such a period that their independence from management and substantial holders may have been compromised; and
- are free from any other interest, position or relationship that might interfere, or might reasonably be seen to interfere, in a material respect the director's capacity to bring an independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interests of the Company as a whole rather than in the interests of an individual security holder or other party.

Materiality thresholds

The Board will consider the materiality of the directors' interests, position, association or relationship for the purposes of determining 'independence' on a case by case basis, having regard to both quantitative and qualitative principles. Without limiting the Board's discretion in this regard, the Board has adopted the following guidelines:

The Board will determine the appropriate base to apply (eg revenue, equity or expenses), in the context of each situation.

In general, the Board will consider a holding of 5% or more of the Company's shares to be material.

In general, the Board will consider an affiliation with a business which accounts for less than 10% of the relevant base to be immaterial for the purposes of determining independence. However, where this threshold is exceeded, the materiality of the particular circumstance with respect to the independence of the particular director should be reviewed by the Board.

Overriding the quantitative assessment is the qualitative assessment. Specifically, the Board will consider whether there are any factors or considerations which may mean that the director's interest, business or relationship could, or could be reasonably perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company.

Administrative matters and procedures

The Company's Constitution governs the regulation of Board meetings and proceedings. These guidelines are subject to the detailed rules contained in the Company's Constitution.

Meetings

The Board will meet regularly and Directors will use all reasonable endeavours to attend Board meetings in person.

Where directors cannot attend in person they may do so using technology.

Quorum

The quorum is at least two Directors.

Secretary

The Company Secretary, or his or her delegate, must attend all Board meetings as minute secretary.

Convening and notice of meeting

Any Director may, and the Company Secretary must upon request from any Director, convene a meeting of the Board. Notice of a meeting of the Board will be given to:

- every Director, except a Director on a leave of absence; and
- any alternate Director appointed by a Director on a leave of absence.

Minutes

Minutes of meetings of the Board must be kept by the Company Secretary and, after review by the Chairman, approved for distribution to the members of the Board.

Minutes will be considered at the next Board meeting. If approved, the Chairman of that meeting will be authorised to sign them.

All minutes of the Board must be entered into a minute book maintained for that purpose and be available for inspection by any Director.
